After working as a teaching assistant at Reaside Academy for one year, I was given the opportunity to apply for school's direct salaried programme at the school. For me, Reaside was the perfect school to do my teacher training in; the schools direct programme enabled me to train as teacher and continue to be employed by the school.

Throughout my experience at Reaside, Senior Leaders, teachers and learning support assistants supported me in every aspect of the training course. Because of regular training and staff insets, I am continually encouraged by the rich array of resources available to staff.

I feel teaching at Reaside is inspiring, you are surrounded by dedicated, hard working and creative staff who strive to achieve the very best for all students. The high quality teaching in the classrooms is reflective in the high quality training of school's direct students.

I would whole heartily recommend the schools direct programme as a route into teacher training, if you are passionate about teaching and supporting children even more so, I recommend training at Reaside Academy.
